Twenty-Seventh Sunday in Ordinary Time - Year A

Realign IV – Don't worry but pray instead

Father Mark writes:

There are so many uncertainties in life, but one thing remains certain: Jesus Christ still calls us to follow him today, just as he always has. That's certain. And he calls us as a Church to support one another as we all seek to follow him. That's certain too. It just isn't easy. It never is.

We all know we want to be loving people. And we all know we have room for improvement. There is a gap, and, if we're not careful, that gap between the loving person we want to be and the reality of how we live our lives can grow.

When we see people as God sees them, it is easier to love them as God loves them. I want us to help each other to align, or realign, our view of people with God's view.

A few weeks ago, we were looking at the fact that God forgave us a debt we could not repay. So, when others hurt us or annoy us or just get in our way, he teaches us to cancel their debt too. We love people best by forgiving them their faults and flaws and failures, just as God has forgiven us a much greater debt.

Today we are looking at how to love others when we are frustrated with what they are doing or not doing. In other words, what to do when people are driving you crazy by their words and actions.

So today, we are going to offer two suggestions for what to do when people are frustrating you. Before we get to those two practices, we are going to look at two things not to do.

The first mistake we make is trying to control people. We all have our own way of controlling or manipulating people so that we can get our way, probably using different ways at different times. But, if you think about it, you actually can't manipulate people and love them at the same time. The two are mutually exclusive. If you're actively manipulating someone, you are not actively loving them. God never manipulates or controls us. He gives us free will.

The second mistake we make is equally common, and it is very explicitly addressed in Scripture. We find it in St. Paul's letter to the Philippians, which we read again this weekend. Paul writes,

"Have no anxiety at all."

Now in talking about anxiety we are not referring to the mental health disorder that requires treatment and sometimes medication. We're talking about what everybody feels when they're stressed out or worried.

Our anxiety might be caused by fear of danger or misfortune, or fear of the future, by apprehension concerning current events, or obsessive regret about the past. We often get anxious at other people's words or thoughts or behaviour but that is a choice we make. People's behaviours and beliefs can be temptations for anxiety but they are not the cause.

When Paul says, "Have no anxiety at all", he is suggesting we have a choice. Other people are responsible for their behaviours and we are responsible for our responses. Nobody else is the cause of your anxiety, but rather your response is the cause of your anxiety.

If we are honest, worry and anxiety add nothing positive. So, rather than getting anxious and upset about other people's behaviours and beliefs, there is something much more positive we can do.

Have no anxiety at all, but in everything, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, make your requests known to God.

Rather than worrying about people or controlling them, you can love them by praying for them. You can release them and their decisions and their choices over to God.

Think about it: If you turned all your worry into prayer; if, every time you found yourself worrying, you turned it into a prayer, you would be a world class pray-er.

You can pray for others to change or make better choices. Or even better, pray that they will draw closer to God. Pray blessings over their life, even if that means things don't go your way.

Rather than letting people make you anxious/upset, use that feeling of worry as an opportunity for prayer and thanksgiving. Hand everything and everyone over to God.

Then, the peace of God that surpasses all understanding will guard your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus.

Praying for people, especially those who are the source of anxiety, brings peace. The peace of God will guard your hearts and minds. You hand people over to God through prayer and, in exchange, he will grant you peace that will guard your heart against further anxiousness and anxiety...a pretty good deal.

Now as good as that sounds and as simple as that sounds, it's not enough. We need help to make it happen, because very few of us are any good at this.

We need friends in faith, people who can encourage us/support us/walk with us. That's why we have our Acorn Groups and other small groups here in the parish. Our small groups are relationships that support your other relationships. They help you carry the burdens you have to carry and release the ones that are not yours to carry. They're a safe place in your life, where you can process what's going on in your life. Our various small groups are the place to grow in faith as you learn about others faith. Elsewhere Paul says:

"I will learn from your faith and you will learn from mine".

That might seem scary for some of you. You might not think you have much faith to share. You might think: "I don't really know the Bible. I don't even know the commandments or the Church teachings." But don't let that stop you. There really aren't that many theologians in the parish. Most people are just like you.

Wherever you are on your faith journey, others can learn from you and your faith experiences. Groups are not about having all the answers, they're about asking and exploring questions, learning and growing in faith.

Our Acorn Groups are small groups, and Alpha and Journey in Faith are both based on small groups. Deacon Martin's sessions on the Holy Spirit in Scripture will give the opportunity to discuss in small groups. In Advent, and especially in Lent, we'll set up some temporary small groups. Most are in person, some are online.

We believe in small groups and are increasingly seeing the value of them. The stress and tension of life is not good for us to carry all alone and on our own. During dark and difficult times friends in faith can bring light and life.

Prisoners' Sunday – Parish Support Group for Winchester – SECOND COLLECTION AT MASSES

On Sunday 8th October, the Church marks Prisoners' Sunday, the national day of pray, action and (we hope) generosity - for those in prison, their loved ones and those who work with them. In the Parish of St Peter's, we are a small but growing group of volunteers supporting Fr Jean Patrice Coulon's Chaplaincy within Winchester Prison. This is what we do:

- We attend Prison Mass, held every Saturday morning.
- We demonstrate Christ's love to all without judgement by listening and talking with prisoners and prison staff before and after Mass.
- We signpost prisoners to the Prisoners Advice and Care Trust (PACT) and make them aware of the support available for their families and themselves on their release.
- We have links with SVP to help fund commodities such as reading glasses and stress balls.
- We share specific prisoner prayer intentions with our Parish Prayer Intercessors.

How to help? Volunteers will need to go through a Prison Vetting process should they feel called to this Ministry.

Prospective volunteers should contact Carmen Griffiths by email: carmie282@gmail.com who will explain the process involved.

We have speakers at Masses with a second collection (or you can donate by bank transfer: Account Name: CDP St Peter & The Winchester Martyrs. Account No: 00890996, Sort Code: 30-93-04. Please reference 'PrisonersSun' when making payment).

THANK YOU for your support and generosity! LET US BUILD BRIDGES NOT WALLS

The Holy Spirit in Scripture: a series of talks and discussions starting October 13th. Please sign up now!

As part of our observance of the diocesan year of the Holy Spirit, Fr Mark has asked Deacon Martin to deliver a series of talks on "The Holy Spirit in Scripture". There will be 7 sessions (appropriate for the Spirit Who gives "Sevenfold Gifts"); they will run on Friday evenings 19:45-21:30, from 13th October to 24th November inclusive. Each session will be a mix of presentations by Deacon Martin, plus discussion groups sharing specific passages of Scripture related to the Spirit. The series will cover how the Holy Spirit is depicted in the Old Testament, Gospels, Acts of the Apostles, the letters of Paul, the "general letters" and even the book of Revelation. Each session is independent of the others, so we encourage you to attend some of them, even if you can't manage all 7. Laudato Si Corner

Wednesday 4th October, was the Feast of St Francis, and the final day of the Season of Creation. It was also the day when the second part of Pope Francis's encyclical Laudato Si was published. In this follow-up document, Laudato Deum, he looks at what has happened to the Earth in recent times and what more needs to be done to encourage a "good use of Nature", including practical actions that can help the environment and those affected by climate change. He urges us all to join our Christian brothers and sisters in the commitment to care for creation as a sacred gift from the Creator and to work and pray for Earth, our common home, so that it can abound with life once again.

You can find more about Laudato Deum and ideas for actions you might take to protect our Earth on <https://laudatosimovement.org>

Upcoming event : Tuesday 10th October at the Parish Centre, at 7.30 pm you can learn about the impact of climate change at first hand, when Fr Benedict will be talking about Agriculture in Africa and his thoughts on the Laudato Si encyclical. Afterwards there will be a showing of Café's Global Healing video, "How Faith helps us Care for our Common Home".

God of Blessings, Deepen our gratitude for all you have made and awaken in us a renewed commitment to care for the earth and each other.

Message from St Peter's School:

Dear parents

Year Group News

Year 4 have been learning about architecture in art, and in history we have been looking at Anglo Saxons. We combined our learning and built Anglo Saxon houses, using only the materials Anglo Saxons would have used. We cut sticks and hessian and combined them with lambswool and clay to form structures. We then used our Typography learning from Year 3 to label our design creations. Henry - "I really enjoyed making things with sticks and clay. I labelled my house the end of the world because it kept falling down."

Eva - "I found this quite tricky but I really enjoyed designing my structure with my partners. I called my house lovely because it looked lovely."

Noah - "I really enjoyed this art project because I liked exploring and building our houses. I was really proud of my finished product."

Riley - "It was challenging to make the walls, but even when it was challenging we had to keep adapting."

Year 3 have enjoyed learning about Andy Goldsworthy this week. We explored his sculptures and then used natural objects around our school to create our own artwork. We were encouraged to think about what we could represent using the natural objects – some of us chose to represent things like a beach, the moon or the spiral of the Milky Way.

Year 6 have been looking at the artist Paul Cezanne and his collected paintings of still life. We have explored sketching techniques and the use of positive and negative space to begin to create our own images.

We currently have a vacancy for a SENDCo. Please see our website for further details: <https://www.stpetershants.co.uk/vacancies/>

If you have pre-school children and like the sound of St Peter's School then why not contact us to find out about the application process?
